In the back there is space to build an interior patio. It is a house with great potential and many possibilities

Unbeatable area to reside or enjoy the holidays, urban area, surrounded by all services in a quiet area. Jalón is a mountain town, in the province of Alicante of 2700 inhabitants. It should be said as a curiosity that the Greenwich meridian (0°0'0 "longitude) crosses the urban core of the town. Its climate is mild with mild winters and summers bearable by the proximity of the Mediterranean Sea. The rainiest month is usually October. An ideal period to visit Jalón is between the end of February and the beginning of March, which is the time when the almond trees bloom after the hardest months of winter. The whole valley acquires a white hue whose beauty is impossible to describe with words. The almond tree by its early flowering is the tree that announces the arrival of spring in the Spanish east.
